

Welcome to Splice Communications LLC. Splice Communications LLC is an independent dealer for your telecom equipment, local & long distance carrier service and virtual web conferencing needs. A review of Splice Communications LLC shows how we can provide solutions to your communication needs through telecom equipment, servicing that equipment, training personnel, software programming and carrier service. All products and services come fully warranted, with complete training and lifelong service.

Splice represents several telecommunication equipment product companies, offering customized business communication "systems" to meet client's everchanging business needs. Splice provides various models and functionality of PBX/Hybrid phone systems and voice and data cabling. Benefits include fully integrated voice messaging, newest generation voice mail, local and wide area networks converged servers, voice over internet protocol (VoIP) with unified messaging capabilities, off-site access needs with encrypted security.

Splice can assist you in providing local & long distance carrier service with the highest quality of service, providing effective, economical solutions to your carrier service needs.

Splice offers you virtual web conferencing for your demanding communication needs for educational, training and meeting needs. Splice is the service provider, offering enhanced features and economical solutions to traditional conferencing.

Splice Communications, LLC
Telephony Engineering & Services
Providing Solutions for Everchanging Options